

CITB Site Supervision Safety Training Scheme (SSSTS)

In a nutshell

If you're in a supervisory role on site, you'll need to be able to help plan and organise health and safety competently on site. This course gives you the knowledge and skills you need, as well as outlining the responsibilities you're legally obliged to undertake.

This course is for...

- ... those aged over 19, in employment, and earning under £32,371 a year
- ... anyone who has or is about to take on supervisory responsibilities
- ... introducing you to health and safety, welfare and environmental issues
- ... developing an understanding of your legal responsibilities relevant to your work activities.

Course content

COURSE INFORMATION LEAFLET

This essential 2-day course covers the following topics:

- The Health and Safety at Work Act
- Specific site challenges for supervisors
- Effective Tool Box Talks
- Supervision of occupational health
- Behavioural safety.

Entry Requirements

There are no formal entry requirements for this course.

Additional information

After this course, you could decide to progress onto the Site Management Safety Training Scheme (SMSTS).

If you do not meet the eligibility criteria for the PLA funded initiative you can still apply for this course via the link below where a range of financial support could be available to you:

CITB Site Supervision Safety Training Scheme \(SSSTS\)

Apply online at www.coleggwent.ac.uk

studentrecruitment@colegwent.ac.uk | 01495 333777 (Croesawn alwadau yn Gymraeg)

