You love being creative You have a basic level of technique in art acquired at GCSE You want a blend of theoretical and practical study You are interested in following the Creative Arts Pathway or Design and Media Pathway

What will I be doing?

AS Level

Art You'll spend the first half of the year developing your existing skills and building on techniques and knowledge gained at GCSE. We'll also challenge you to acquire new skills, work through a design process that covers criteria and analyse artists and artwork.

At the end of this experimental period, you'll have gained sufficient knowledge and ability to work on your own Personal Creative Enquiry (PCE). This unit of work is based on a working brief/starting point that'll be discussed with your tutor. You'll be required to produce a good quality body of work displayed on design sheets, that follow criteria thoroughly and logically, that'll lead to an outcome of work that's well informed by artists and artwork, as well as articulating your own ideas/concepts.

A Level Art Building on skills developed in your first year of study, you'll be required to complete another PCE based project from September to January on a theme that interests you. Again, this'll be presented on a series of design sheets or a sketchbook of studies as a journal of work documenting ideas that fully realise your ideas/concepts.

During the second half of the year, from February to May, you'll be working on a controlled element. This'll be set externally via WJEC.

You'll be assessed throughout the academic year via formal assessment that's built into the course. Homework tasks and completion of work will also be assessed and recorded regularly, so you have every opportunity to develop your work as an individual. Informal feedback will be recorded in class sessions and disseminated to you and the relevant teaching staff, so that an accurate assessment and progress record can be charted accordingly. Upon completion, you'll
